The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The phrase "said trunnion pins" lacks antecedent basis.

Claims 1-3 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wilkerson or Smeal. Both Wilkerson and Smeal show the claim assembly, to mount their rods to the flanges, would have been an obvious mechanical expediency by the mere reversal of parts.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wilkerson in view of Hamill et al. Wilkerson, as applied above, shows the claimed assembly with the exception of the trunnion pins mounted on the cylinder. Hamill shows trunnion pins attached to a cylinder to enable pivotal attachment. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Wilkerson to comprise trunnion pins attached, as taught by Hamill, for pivotally mounting his cylinder.

Claims 2,4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wilkerson in view of Haker et al. Wilkerson, as applied above, shows the claimed assembly with the exception of the trunnion pins mounted on the cylinder.

Haker shows trunnion pins 66 attached to a cylinder by a hoop to enable pivotal attachment. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Wilkerson to comprise trunnion pins attached, as taught by Haker, for pivotally mounting his cylinder.

Claim 7 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
